April 68 A.D.

Word came to Nero that GALBA, commander of the Roman army in Spain, had joined forces with VINDEX, and was marching toward Rome.

Hearing that the Praetorian Guard was ready to abandon Nero for proper remuneration, the Senate proclaimed Galba emperor. Nero put some poison into a small box, fled from the Golden

Nause & the Servilian Guards on the road to Ostia. He went down to the river to drown himself, but his courage failed him.

He finally hid in a cellar & there dove a dagger into his throat. His hand faltered, and his freedman EPAPHRODITUS helped him to press the blade home.
